Academic sessions

You do not need to book these sessions. They are first-come, first-served on the day with priority given to prospective students if the room is at capacity.

Presentations are repeated throughout the day to provide you with flexibility to create your own schedule. Sessions at the start and end of the day tend to have the most availability.

-  Departments with this symbol will also be available in the Information Hub located in the Teaching and Learning Centre.
-  Student ambassadors studying with the Faculty of Business with this symbol will be available in a drop-in hub located within the Business School when not in presentations.

This University publication is intended as a general guide to the University of Durham's courses and facilities and forms no part of any contract between you and the University except as provided below. The publication is prepared in advance of the academic year to which they relate. The University makes every effort to ensure that the information contained here is accurate. Although reasonable steps are taken by the University to provide the courses and services described, the University cannot guarantee the provision of any course or facility. Any course may be altered or withdrawn owing to circumstances beyond the University of Durham's reasonable control. Such circumstances include (but are not limited to) industrial action, lack of demand, departure of key personnel, change in Government policy, withdrawal or reduction of funding, change of Law. The University will take such steps as are available to it to minimise the effect of any alteration or withdrawal of a course. Such steps may include the offer of a place on an alternative course.

Please note that the University's website is the most up to date source of information regarding courses and facilities and we strongly recommend that you always visit the website before making any commitments.
